clared that he had escaped from the Florida state penitentiary at Raftord, Fla., with four others in 1925. He had been sentenced to five years in August, 1927 for passing bad checks, in Miami, Fla.

After his escape he said that he joined his wife and nine year old child, who is believed to be living in Richmond at the present time. They went to Chicago and then to Ohio, he said.

Florida authorities were notified by the local police but as far as it could be learned last night Florida will not ask for his return but will wait until action is taken by the Superior court here.

Wanted In Martinez
The sheriff's office reported last night that Holliday passed two bad checks in Pittsburg and three in Martinez. At Martinez he is alleged to have purchased a $200 diamond ring with a bad check. The ring was recovered.

Five bad checks are charged to Holliday here. These checks are said to amount to sums between $20 and $30 each.

To Face Trial Soon
According to the police, Holliday would enter a shop, purchase an article at a trifling cost, and in payment would hand over an endorsed check for twice the amount. He would then order the article delivered to a fictitious address and would disappear.

He was held to answer by Justice Alstrom and will appear in the Superior Court within a few days. He was taken to Martinez yesterday by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Joseph.

Tax Reduction Occupies State Solons At Meet

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—UP—While tax experts looked on dubiously the California State legislature continued today to make concessions to tax payers by amending the four percent income tax on banks and business corporations.

Several changes, allowing further reductions on the income tax were made by committees. A public hearing was held tonight when committees of the senate and assembly listened to requests for further favors, this time from real estate dealers asking that ten percent of their realty taxes be offset against their income tax.

No decision on the appeal of the real estate men will be forthcoming from the committees for a day or two, legislators said.

Taxation problems were still eclipsing all other business in both houses of the legislature, and apparently will continue to do so until the questions are finally settled by a vote on the bill. The measure must receive approval of the solons before March 1 to be effective this year.

No Applesauce In Statistics On Apple Crop

SEATTLE, Feb. 19.—UP—Some savant of statistics has electrified the populace of this city with the following: If all the apples grown in the Northwest this season were laid side by side they would make six rows between Seattle and New York, and there would be enough left over for a good-sized stomach ache for a large percentage of the world's population.

In other words crop estimates place the Northwest apple crop at 3,450,000 apples or 40,000 car loads.

was believed to have been postponed following an arbitration meeting attended by representatives of President Portes Gil, the governor of Sonora and the commander of the northern Sonora zone. General Manzo returned to his Ortiz station tonight after telegraphing his allegiance to the Mexican chief executive.

Nogales, residents, particularly business men, were not sure that the crisis had passed, and many of them were rushing over to the American side of the border.

Approximately $500,000 in gold was removed from the Nogales Sonora bank yesterday to other border points. Bank officials declined to comment on the action but it was authoritatively learned that parts of the shipment were bound for Mexico and another part of Juarez. Both observers of the situation here attached particular significance to the sudden transfer of the funds.

Cross-Country Racers Get Lost In Heavy Fog

LONDON, Feb. 19.—UP—An Oxford cross country runner, limping over frozen ground and stumbling through fog, fought his way to the finish line of the seven mile course and fell over the tape hysterical with pain. He had lost a shoe early in the race, but kept on with his foot cut and bleeding. Half an hour after the other runners had finished, two Oxford men and a Cambridge runner who had been lost in the fog, and accidentally discovered each other trotted across the line together. Thus ended the forty-fourth annual Oxford and Cambridge cross-country race, one of the wildest events in English college sports.

Cambridge won 23 points against 31. One of their men was spiked by a fellow team-mate and had to be brought home in a motor. With three men out, and neither side complete, automobiles were sent out to search through the fog for the missing runners. Soon they were seen looming up in the fog. They had lost their way, and after wandering aimlessly about had rediscovered the course, and each other. They then agreed to finish together so that no one of them should score over the other two.

Fog and frost handicapped the men at the start of the race at Horton Kirby, Kent. Duck added to their troubles before the contest was finished. A. N. S. Kelton and R. E. Cowburn, both of St. John's Cambridge, ran a dead heat through the fog and gloom for first place in forty-five minutes.

MIDWEST HELD IN COLD WAVE

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—UP—The northwest, midwest and parts of the southwest, wrapped in a blanket of snow and held in the grip of a severe cold wave, had no promise of relief until Wednesday noon from the weather bureau today.

The coldest weather of the winter struck the northwest. At Brainerd, Minn., the mercury dipped to 38 degrees below zero and an all time cold record for this date was established at St. Paul with a reading of 25 below.

Rice Lake, Wis., reported 48 degrees below.

The Chicago area had an official low temperature of zero, which was accompanied by a heavy snowfall. Iowa, Nebraska, and Missouri also were visited with snows and zero temperatures. The heaviest snowfall, however, was reported in the Dakotas and Minnesota where many highways were blocked, adding to the inconvenience and suffering caused by the sudden and sharp drop in temperature.

Impeachment Of Hardy Asked

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—UP—Impeachment of Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles for malfeasance in office was recommended tonight by a special assembly committee which has spent several weeks investigating a $2500 "love offering" from Alvin Karpis to Judge Hardy.

The proposed indictment of Judge Hardy will next be voted upon by the Assembly, and if passed the Senate will sit as a court to hear testimony against him.

Munitions Act Laid On Table

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—UP—The highly controversial nature of the Porter resolution authorizing the president to place an embargo on arms and munitions to nations at war or contemplating hostilities caused it to be laid on the table by the house foreign affairs committee today.

The resolution will, however, be introduced again at the special session Hoover is expected to call in April, Chairman Porter announced.

The short time remaining before adjournment of the present congress was said to be responsible for tacking the resolution at this time.

CROCKETT CAGE TEAMS BEAT S. P. FIVES

The Community Center club girls team and the unlimited boys team entertained the girls and unlimited teams of the Southern Pacific Employees club of San Francisco recently.

The girls game developed into a walkway for the local aggression. The CCC girls, 23, S. P. Girls 16. Regardless of this one-sided score, there was some real snappy fast passing, basketball put on display during the game period. It was only due to the meanness of Crockett and Bess, forwards, for Crockett that pulled up the score for the club as large as it was. Crockett scored 18 points and Bess 12, the remaining 21 being gathered up by the substitutes forward. Caldwell, Murphy and Annet at guards put up a beautiful game for the local crowd. Murphy was injured in the first few minutes of play and had to be removed from the game as a result of a very nasty fall, but was later able to return to the scrimmage and help hold the S. P. bunch from the basket.

Club Lost Last Year

The S. P. girls used two sets at forwards, Charlton scoring 6 points and McLaughlin 5 for the high point players. Spira, sub, scored forward and Bess her running mate had 3 and 2 points to their credit respectively. When the actual scrimmage of the game was very exciting and interesting, the final results were more of a walk-away than was anticipated.

As last year the S. P. girls defeated the club girls by 2 points. The CCC girls are still undefeated for the season. Saturday night, they play a return engagement with the Elston Athletic club girls on the local court at 8 p.m.

The game between the fast stepping S. P. unlimited boys team and the CCC unlimited developed into a regular battle with the winner in doubt up to the last minute of play as the final score of CCC 35 and S. P. 25 show.

From observation during the game it looked very much as if the local boys were taking the game too much for granted and were sort of loafing until they had a sudden awakening that the S. P. were on schedule.

Beck Shows Skill

Beck at forward for the local club displayed his usual skill in sinking the basket and led the field with 12 points to his credit. Morini who has been absent from the lineup due to an injured knee, celebrated his return at center by scoring 9 points. Krauskopf was third on the list with 8 to his credit. The ignition of the local club in the person of Sparks at guard was off color in this game, noticeably by only having three points to his credit; where he usually gives them a run for their first place. The other guards, Wise and Kirkhouse went scoreless for the evening, but displayed wonderful head work on the floor in stopping the advance of the

TENNIS HOPES FALTER IN FRANCE

PARIS, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Despondency is rampant in French lawn tennis circles, and many are the pessimists who spread their gloomy opinion that France will lose possession of the coveted Davis Cup next summer.

Rene Lacoste is to blame, for Rene has grown sour on tennis and has sworn on a stack of rackets that he is through with the tennis racket for good. He has gone into industrial retirement, being so occupied with pistons and cylinders that he has no time for tennis.

Lacoste's going will wreck the famous "Four Horsemen" for Jean Borotra has often threatened to choose the first opportunity to drop the game, and he may make Lacoste's retirement the occasion for his farewell to the turf-court.

Henri Cochet, at the height of his glory, will be back again. So will Brugnon, but Jaques was not able to get into his stride last summer and he is considered doubtful through as a Davis Cup doubles player. There are two very fine youngsters, Bessis and de Buzet, but been critics of the game contend that while they are good they are not of "Four Horsemen" caliber.

Lacoste took his decision last summer after Tilden rose to great heights and trimmed young Rene to the accompaniment of his father's tears. He stuck to it all during the autumn when he did not touch a racket. The winter indoor season hobbles along without the famous "Alligator."

Action Resented

The decision of the French classing committee, which ranked Lacoste second to Cochet, while formerly they had shared first honors, only served to convince him that there was no glory in sport. He is said to have resented the committee's action greatly.

The first six of the high-ranking fifteen represent about all the class there is in blue-ribbon tennis circles in France. The others ranked high are some prime old favorites, such as Gouttenoire, Samazeuilh, Aron and Danel, who have courted around French courts for ten years or more. None is of real international class.

It is the same thing for women. It is hard to understand Madame Mathien, a likeable enough girl, but not a great player, ranking first in the land which produced such players as Suzanne Lenglen and the "Greco-French" cousins "Didi" Via and Helene Contostavlos.

Several of those ranked among the first ten of the fifteen chosen are gray-haired matrons. Tennis is a decadent sport, so far as French women are concerned. There is no junior Suzanne in sight and France's claims for admittance to the Wightman Cup circle should not be taken seriously.

NEW TEST FOR WHARF PILES THURSDAY

day is composed of Councilman W. W. Scott, City Manager J. A. McVittie, L. A. Hoffman, City Attorney T. M. Carlson, J. H. Pinkerton, P. M. Santolo, W. M. Willets and Roland Forrester to the Port-Richmond Terminal corporation. H. J. Brumby, chief consulting engineer for the city, was also in attendance at the conference. Others who were to attend the session are Paul H. Hargreaves of Los Angeles, president of the Pan-Pacific company, builders of the wharf and W. S. Converse, vice-president of Warren Brothers of Boston. The Warrens own a majority of the Pan-Pacific corporation stock, it is reported.

It is understood that a general discussion of the work at the wharf and the desirability of using the patent concrete piles was discussed.

No Report Made
According to City Manager McVittie, Smith Emery and company, which has been asked to make a complete study of the project, did not submit a written report at the meeting on its findings, but probably would do so at a future time.

McVittie last night denied that any plans had been made to meet or that the date for a future meeting to discuss the question had been set.

The opinion was expressed last night that if the piles should withstand the tests, "You lay when 10 or 12 are to be driven, that they might be accepted regardless of other tests. It was pointed out that the piles had been constructed without any special plans and specifications, and that if they would stand up under practical tests that they would be acceptable both to the city and the Port-Richmond Terminal corporation.

FOURTH DAY OF HUNT FOR TOT FRUITLESS

That Doris was kidnapped by a degenerate who has either harmed her and had exceptional luck in keeping her hidden or has killed her.

That she was taken by some one well acquainted with her family who meant no harm and has written the three notes about the girl.

That her disappearance was a part of older children who have become frightened by the extensive publicity and have continued the "joke" from fear of punishment.

Police Grin

The first line issued Captain Duncan Mathewson, head of detectives, to greater action than his office has known for more than a year. Following this theory authorities have sought a "tall elderly man dressed in black and with a black moustache," and an "angel poorly dressed woman."

Four men have been arrested as suspects, but intensive questioning has ended in failure in each case. The latest to be arrested was Hugh Campbell Cook, 69, held as a "stupid vagrant" when he could not explain his movements last Friday afternoon.

The three notes were attributable to the theory provided they were authentic. The first was found by a playmate of Doris on the street, causing some to advance the third idea that children were responsible. But the last two have been posted at a station of the post office on the past two successive nights at exactly the same time, 11:30 p. m.

Third Note Unread

Contents of the third note were not revealed, with the exception of the "second time" threat, leading some to believe it might have offered police a disclosure of importance which they desired to trace without interference.

The third message caused the mother of the missing girl to shriek hysterically and the stepfather's face turned a pale white. Those who believed that Doris had been taken by a friend included C. A. Wasson, her grandfather, who was questioned at length during the day.

Offers Adoption
"I am positive she was taken by some one who loves her," Wasson told officers.

Wasson publicly offered to adopt the girl when she is returned, claiming that would probably hasten her recovery if someone took her "who loves her."

Possibility that other children had taken her was referred to often but seemed to have much less basis than either of the other two theories.

San Francisco bay was drugged tonight when a new suggestion that Doris might have been the victim of a hit and run motorist who had tried to dispose of the body by throwing it in the bay was offered. R. D. French, said he had seen a motorist throw a suitcase into the bay Sunday.

Edward J. Murphy, stepfather of the girl, was taken from his home to the Hall of Justice tonight and was questioned for several hours by detectives. The move followed a short conference at the Murphy home during which Miss Clara Bridges, a neighbor repeated her story that she saw the missing girl with a poorly dressed woman several hours after the disappearance.
